

Dare to Dream : Get Educated

Conference for Young Latinas

April 24, 2010

It is only because of the generosity of donors like you that this conference can take place. Your contribution will help us to encourage the young Latina girls of DuPage County to dare to dream and to seek the education that will turn dream into reality.

Your donation will help cover the costs of registration, transportation, speakers and presenters, lunches, and other expenses such as printing, postage, and materials.

Your contribution will be acknowledged in advertisements for the conference, in the program that will be given to each of the 300 participants, and will be announced from the podium on the day of the conference.
